

Voices & Choices spoken word by CJay Philip

Voices...speaking to our hearts speaking to our minds our souls are a reservoir, our words are divine The weight of our words the melodies they sing
The power to sooth the power to move the courage they bring If voices are a spark, choices are the flame between here and there lie a rainbow of colorful mind games
The ice blue of a love gone cold the amber shimmer of hope in what's been told The greens the golds the black dark as coal the dripping red desire that eats at your soul Voices tinted colors muted and slight Choices vibrant and growing from minds festering night
