

Blackman Murray Russo

Turning Point, the first release, from this dynamic group shows a unique musical vision and fresh approach to improvisational music. It showcases everything from the Beatles to Brahms to Peter Gabriel, but is knit together by the writing of pianist Alan Blackman. and the incredible saxophone of guest artist Donny McCaslin.

Selected Press Quotes

“...It’s poetry in slow motion, words translated into sound...”
— All About Jazz.com

“...there is something here, a beauty, that is captivating.
Turning Point will be in rotation at my house for a long while...”
— Joe Locke

“This group seems to be carried away by the music itself, taking our daydreams along for the ride.”
— Robert Sutton
