

The sea rose and carried me, my two ton body, my rough self.
My dried mud toes and caked mud tongue. I woke up, my equilibrium lost. I could not right myself.