

I See Injustice by AB

Latasha Harlins
15 years old and never
Even a teenager

Shot turning to leave
Ms. Du's store without the juice
She could have paid for

There was some pushing Very upsetting, should not have happened, but did

Now the kid is dead
And, manslaughter the reward
For killing a child

Shot when walking out
No threat of harm at the time
Du aimed for her head

Du knew guns will kill
Du drew a gun to kill her
Almost, teenager

Good grades at her school
One day a woman grabbed her
She pushed back, and died

RIP Latasha, Life 1976 Death 1991 Prayers for our children and for adults who automatically see them as criminals, like Judge Karlin who said she could "see" that Ms.
Du wasn't a criminal.
