

thebranchesjournal

Liked by erin.k.mcatee thebranchesjournal We'll be showcasing prose and poetry excerpts from our wonderful contributors to our fall issue! Next is Karla Pahel's "There Are No Blessed Mother Statues Here."

"After communion, a woman came up to me carrying a one-year-old child on her hip and told me, 'You're doing great! I see you! I see you!' And there it was, a Divine miracle

