

Multiple Personalities

one for the family
one for the job
one for society
one for my race
one for my gender

one for strangers
one for friends
one for children
one for God

one for people you lust after one for people you trust, and don't one for those you love one for those who love you, but you don't love back

one for fun
one for respectability
one for survival

one out of common sense one out of fear
one out of desperation
a second one for survival

how about just one,
for me?
wouldn't that be grand?