

Blackbird Thirteen Ways

September 21, 2008 — January 9, 2009
UB Student Center Gallery

BLACKBIRD THIRTEEN WAYS is inspired by the Wallace Stevens poem, “Thirteen Ways of Looking at a Blackbird.” Stevens has long fascinated and challenged writers, readers, and other creative individuals with his mysterious modern masterpiece.

THIRTEEN Maryland artists took the challenge of responding to a stanza of this enigmatic poem. The artists work in various media including painting, drawing, printmaking, photography, mixed media, bookmaking, and mosaic.

WAYS of seeing is one theme explored throughout the university’s MFA program in Creative Writing & Publishing Arts.
