About the Artist

Errol W. McKinson is a resilient and vibrant breakout award-winning artist. At an early age, McKinson was fascinated by the works of art that surrounded him in his homeland Jamaica and later became extremely interested in Modern Art, Impressionism and Cubism, the style and techniques of Claude Monet, Paul Cezanne, Pablo Picasso, and George Braque. These Masters influence McKinson's work today and his overall body of work is represented in a total of 30 series, taken from life experience, societal matters, nature, and civilization.

As a self-taught artist and a recipient of numerous awards, McKinson brings a kaleidoscope of distinctive colors and thoughtful brushstrokes that evoke a range of feelings – compassion and anger, sorrow and laughter, despair and mobilization. Most recently, he has been awarded with the Certificate of Recognition from the exhibition Maryland Muse, Art in Treasured Spaces from the Comptroller of Maryland for his new series Modern Art Meets Cubism, Activism Meets Justice – Clarence Thomas; an Excellent Art Achievement honor from Artist Space Gallery; and Juror's Choice and the Director's Choice Award from Howard County Arts Council.

For over a decade, McKinson has been recognized in art shows and through online galleries. He has also opened his personal studio to show the community some of his most illustrative and emotive pieces which display an exploration of his conceptualizations. In his works, you'll see the reflection of the greatest Impressionists and Cubists, he is currently exploring a variety of methods seeking to uncover the hidden secrets of Modern Art, Impressionism and Cubism.

McKinson's most recent work has focused on giving a voice to the voiceless. From that perspective, the latest series – Activism Meets Justice, At the Asylum, Coal Miners, and Cuban Experience – feature the characters and lifestyles of marginalized and overlooked people in society. Although their voices were muted, the array of colors they bring to the canvas and panels are not.
