ARTIST STATEMENT

My journey as an artist has always been about exploring how emotion, identity, and consciousness intertwine. My work comes from a place of curiosity, I'm fascinated by how people think and feel, and how those two worlds often collide. I see my work as a mirror for shared vulnerability. I want my art to remind people that it's okay to be complex and to hold both stillness and passion.

My latest series "Echoes of the Infinite" is a portal between vulnerability and resilience. Each piece serves as both a mirror and guide. Together, they form a visual language of renewal, reminding us that transformation is infinitely expansive. This theme goes more in depth as I continue to create.
