

Michael Stevenson

Blossom artist statement

These monoprints, part of a larger series, are an exploration of macro and micro, gentleness and destruction. They are abstractions of the forces of nature - the opening of a bud, the burst of a cloud, the detonation of a bomb - visual presentations that deny scale.